Public Works OKs drinking water, storm water mitigation studies

BY BOB DEMAREE

The City of Madison's work on a drinking water infrastructure improvement project and flood risk management plan are moving forward.

Both projects received planning stage approval from the Board of Public Works and Safety at its meeting on Monday.

Brian Jackson, the city's utility manager, asked for a limited notice to proceed be given to Commonwealth Engineering that will allow land surveying and preliminary design to move begin on the drinking water project.

Jackson said that funds are currently available in reserve accounts to pay for the preliminary work, and that the notice to proceed puts the city in position to qualify for a State Water Infrastructure Fund (SWIF) grant from the Indiana Finance Authority (IFA).

Mayor Bob Courtney asked for the board's approval in order to meet a year-end deadline necessary for surveying and design required by the SWIF grant.

Courtney said the city is still in the process of "arranging the financing and other sources, and completing a rate study." He said the city has requested $2.5 million in American Rescue Plan funds from the Jefferson County Commissioners for the drinking water infrastructure project, which will have an estimated cost of $15 million, and the Commissioners responded by offering $200,000.

"We are asking them to reconsider," said Courtney, noting the water infrastructure improvement project will impact two-thirds of the county's residents. "We think it's appropriate they support this county-wide drinking water project. Please ask your County Commissioners to support this project. Every dollar we receive to offset the cost of the project will reduce your water rates."

The board authorized Courtney to sign an agreement between the city and the Army Corps of Engineers (ACOE) for the development of a flood risk management plan.

The proposal follows a flash flooding event on June 18 that Courtney said resulted in 35 water rescues by first responders, millions of dollars

Parks board adopts twilight rates for Sunrise

Discount targets play at non-peak hours

BY BOB DEMAREE

Efforts to enhance and improve Sunrise Golf Course are underway Madison Parks Director Matt Woolard reported to the city's Parks Board at its meeting last week.

Earlier this year, the city formed a golf board, which Woolard noted has met three times "one time informally and two times formally as a committee" with Kenton Williams as chairman, Karl Eaglin as vice chairman, Kathy Crafton secretary, and Zac Laughlin, representing the parks board.

"It's been nice to bounce ideas off each other," said Woolard, noting one area in which there has been focus "is getting more volume on the golf course."

Among the efforts to do that, Woolard said is creating a website for Sunrise Golf Course with its own domain name.

"That's something that's really lacking for Sunrise Golf Course," Woolard said. "There isn't any sort of web presence" with exception of what's on the City of Madison website. "It's very difficult to find any information about Sunrise other than it's an 18-hole course. So we want to make our presence felt online, creating that URL," and the parks board approved consideration of three different URLs that might be possible in getting that set up.

Additionally, in an effort to attract more golfers to the course at non-peak times, a request was made for an adjustment in the price structure.

"The play after 2 p.m. seems to drop off dramatically," Woolard said, so the golf board requested that a twilight rate be adopted from 2 p.m. to dark Monday through Friday, reducing the rate to $30 for 18 holes with a cart, and then on Saturday and Sunday, to $35 during those hours. Additionally, on Tuesday,

COVID-19 numbers remain high, climbing

BY BOB DEMAREE

COVID-19 infection numbers remain high throughout Indiana and Kentucky with most counties falling under the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's "high" risk category in terms of community spread.

During week of Aug. 8-14, all but two counties in both Indiana and Kentucky indicated "high" risk for community spread. In Indiana, only Porter and Newton counties remained at the lower "substantial" risk category while in Kentucky only Clinton and Robertson counties were at "substantial" risk.

Last week, both Jefferson and Switzerland counties moved to a "Red" advisory level on the Indiana Department of Health's county metrics map, making them, along with neighboring Jennings

2 arrested in Hanover traffic stop

Hanover Town Police arrested two Madison men — one on drug charges and the other on a probation violation warrant — while conducting a traffic stop on Friday related to a moving violation.

Larry Moeller

James R. Dummich Jr.

Police stopped a black pickup truck owned and driven by James R. Dummich Jr., 38, Madison, for a traffic violation and allegedly discovered methamphetamine and other narcotic-related items during a search.

Dummich was charged with possession of methamphetamine, a Level 6 felony; possession of marijuana, a Class B misdemeanor, and possession of paraphernalia, a Class C misdemeanor. Police also discovered there was an active Jefferson County warrant to arrest Dummich for failure to appear.

A passenger in Dummich's vehicle, Larry Moeller, 44, Madison, was also arrested after a check returned a warrant for his arrest on a probation violation.

Both men were lodged in the Jefferson County Jail. Dummich is being held on a $2,000 cash bond while bond for Moeller has been set at $5,000 cash.

Hanover Town Police were assisted by the Jefferson County Sheriff's Department.

Ripley boy hurt on ORV

Indiana Conservation Officers are investigating an off-road vehicle accident that injured a male juvenile from Ripley County near Holton, Indiana.

The accident occurred at approximately 2:45 p.m. Saturday on private property in the 3800 block of West US Highway 50. The initial investigation indicated that a 7-year-old operator lost control of the machine and struck a tree.

The boy was taken to St. Vincent Hospital in North Vernon and later transferred to Riley Hospital in Indianapolis for facial and abdominal injuries.

He was wearing a helmet during the accident.

Wednesday and Thursday, from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., the rate will be $28 for seniors 55 and over, veterans, first responders and City of Madison employees. The parks board voted to approve each of the recommended changes.

Madison Mayor Bob Courtney said one of the reasons behind the golf board is to "get closer to the golf community and to identify opportunities to increase play. Increased play is going to be increased revenue for us."

Courtney embraced the recommended rate changes, particularly in creating the twilight rates. "If we don't have someone playing at those tee times, it's gone forever and you're not going to make that up. I think these are really good suggestions for non-peak tee times, this can really create some volume for us. I think we should be willing to explore options and find out what works."

Woolard also said the process of implementing the Golf Now app is proving to be beneficial in helping golfers more easily book tee times while also helping more people find Sunrise Golf Course as a golfing option.

In other business,:

• Nicole Schell, the city's director of planning, updated the process of developing a five-year plan. She said a working session to discuss the plan with the parks board and park staff will be open to the public, along with public hearings to get public input.

• Schell also reported on Crystal Beach, which closed early on Aug. 1 in preparation for renovation work that will be done there. She said the pool is in the process of being cleaned out and drained in preparation for the upcoming work, which she anticipates will begin mid-September.

• Michele Ward asked about the possibility of resuming City of Madison women's softball leagues at Kiwanis Park. "I have played softball for 33 years," said Ward, a Madison native. She said the last two years the city has not had women's softball and she misses it.

Board president Gayle Spaulding agreed that the city "needs to have it. I know there are a lot who would participate," and asked about establishing a fall league and encouraged the staff to work out the details to make it happen.

Ward agreed, "I think it would be better in the fall. It's not as hot, and it's a shorter season."

• Woolard reported that Madison Parks is now an official partner with the Continental Amateur Baseball Association. He said events will be hosted at Rucker Sports Complex beginning Sept. 4 for age 12 and under. "This is a trial run going into the fall, but if everything goes well we will have a full slate for 2022," he said. "We're very excited for that, and looking forward to getting that going."

• Woolard reported that 13,098 guests visited Crystal Beach pool this summer, which he said is 90 less than last year, but the pool was open fewer days this year.

• Dianna Terry, who has volunteered the last nine years as a water aerobics instructor at Crystal Beach, reported there were 954 attendees in the eight weeks that sessions were held, which she said averages to 40 people per session. Terry noted she has a long history at Crystal Beach, having been a basket girl there back in 1958. "It has been very important to me to keep people open and going, and I have been happy to volunteer, but I think next year is going being my last year" because she is now 78 years old. Terry said she's been working to find someone to take her place as aerobics instructor, but has not yet found anyone.

Courtney commended Terry for the "fantastic" work she has done for the city as aerobics instructor.

• Charlie Ferguson addressed the board regarding pickleball seeking more time for play and opportunities for tournaments. He said pickleball is "growing very big" and he anticipates that trend will continue.

• Lisa Ferguson asked for improvements to public restrooms in the city. "The shape of the restrooms in the town is terrible," she said.

In particular, she cited the restroom on Broadway Street near the basketball court and Crystal Beach. "Can we do something about the bathrooms? I know it's a lot of money" to keep them in working order, but she said the condition of the restrooms reflect poorly on the community to visitors, and make it difficult for residents who might need to use them.

• Jan Vetrhus asked if the Parks Department could better promote the Madison Community Concert Band that is now active and played its first concert since 2019 a night earlier at Brown Gym. "This is great stuff. It just shows how broad the City of Madison Parks Department is. Please take credit, please promote and encourage people."

Love versus lust

ANNIE LANE
DEAR ANNIE

Dear Annie: I've known this guy "Henry" for about six years now. We never got the timing right, and we've cheated on our significant others with each other. When I was single, he wasn't, and vice versa. Now I'm in a healthy and happy relationship. Henry and I still talk, and it's hard to let him go. He's had trouble letting me go, too.

I used to believe I was in love with him, and I still have feelings for him. His attitude has changed during the past year. He's been real sweet and asks me what I want in the future. We both want the same things out of life. We share similar interests and get along very well. He makes me feel a different way than any other man has. He has asked me to run away with him and start a life together in a new state. I don't know if he would actually go through with it. He's very spontaneous but also flaky.

However, my current boyfriend, "Mason," has been there for me through a crazy and tough time. Mason is real sweet, too, and he's helped me grow a lot as a person. He lives with me, and we want the same things out of life. Mason would do anything for me to make sure I'm happy in the relationship. We communicate well and haven't had any issues yet.

I don't want to make a stupid choice and regret everything. If I leave Mason, I don't think there's any going back. But I worry I'll always wonder what could have been with Henry. — Love Dilemma in Vermont

Dear Dilemma: I'm not sure how happy and healthy your current relationship is if you are still lusting for Henry. Ask yourself if what you are feeling is more lust or love for Henry — and Mason — and that will give you your answer.

Lust dissipates over time, while love persists. Whether Henry or Mason is more love or lust is a question you have to ask yourself. Start by asking, "How do I feel about myself when I am with this person?" Don't forget that if Henry cheated on others, he will likely cheat on you.

Dear Annie: My mother-in-law puts her husband first in her family. His moods and feelings dictate everything in that house. Consequently, their children — my husband and his sister — do not know how to assert themselves in their relationships. They don't know how to sort out their true feelings.

They weren't allowed to disagree in their early years at home. This nearly destroyed his sister, and it has caused problems in our marriage, which, thankfully, we have weathered. But the bottom line is they didn't learn to have a good relationship with themselves.

Putting yourself last isn't always saintly, nor is it always healthy, for you and your family. — Sad Observer

Dear Sad Observer: Your letter brings up a good life lesson. If your own personal and emotional cup is not full, how can you fill the cup of others? The answer is, you cannot. Take time every day to fill up your own cup when you can. Some good ways are through walks with friends, prayer or meditation, long relaxing baths, journaling, singing a song you like or spending time in nature.

Regaining trust takes time

Dear Annie: I love reading your column. I found out three years ago that my husband of 33 years was having an affair with his bookkeeper. We have a business together, but I stepped out of the business part years ago to become a nurse.

Supposedly, the affair has ended, but he refuses to let her stop being his bookkeeper. It's been three long years of wondering. I have no idea about the financial part of the business.

My heart breaks because we have been together since high school, but I can't continue to have all these doubts. Any suggestions without tearing my world apart? — Heartbroken

Dear Heartbroken: Doubting and not knowing for sure is one of the most difficult positions to be in. It's better to know for sure than to constantly doubt. What your husband did made you lose your trust, and once trust is gone from a relationship, it takes a lot of steps to regain that. Keeping the woman who he had an affair with employed is unacceptable. You have every right to feel heartbroken, but know that you will heal from this.

ANNIE LANE
DEAR ANNIE

Consult the help of a professional therapist to help you deal with the betrayal of your husband. From there, you can decide if YOU want to stay with him and what YOUR terms are for keeping this relationship going.

Once a decision is made, you will start to feel better and heal from the trauma that you suffered.

Dear Annie: I am a real estate broker responding to "Middlewoman," who expected a referral fee for recommending a friend for web design.

Any expectation of a referral fee needs to be communicated up front. If a referral fee is going to be paid, the person providing goods or services needs to know the amount ahead of time so they can take that into consideration when bidding on the job.

"Middlewoman's" friend may have quoted a lower price for a friend of a friend. If she later learns she is expected to pay a referral fee, that could mean she makes no profit at all.

Communicating expectations is the key. I agree with you that a friend should not charge a fee for recommending a friend. If the two friends are in the same line of business and one refers a client to another because, for some reason, they cannot do the job themselves, then a referral fee might be appropriate. That does not seem to be the case here. It did not cost "Middlewoman" anything to mention a name. — Need to Be Clear

Dear Need to Be Clear: Thank you for your letter. Communication from the beginning is always a good way to ensure smooth sailing down the road, and expecting others to read your mind is always a prescription for misunderstanding.

Chief to propose adding part-time officers to MPD

BY MARK CAMPBELL

Madison Police Chief John Wallace proposed to the Police Merit Board last week and received approval from the Board of Public Works Monday to begin hiring some part-time officers for the city's police force in a program that would supplement patrols with retired or former police officers.

Wallace said unlike reserve programs utilized by some police and sheriff departments, the program he is proposing would target fully-trained and certified officers who have retired or left police work in the past but are willing and able to work part-time. Wallace said there could be a number of officers who fit that description and that could provide great value to the city.

Having veteran and/or skilled officers work part-time would supplement the department as needed whenever regular full-time officers must to miss a shift for illness, injury or some scheduled absence.

"It's hard to find officers," Wallace said. "What I am proposing is part-time police. Some retirees could retire and then come back part-time and help fill in some of our shifts when we need help without having to move people around."

Wallace said part-time officers would have the training, skills and proven reliability or full-time officers but be paid a salary based on time worked with no benefits. That would save the city money on benefits and training while giving the department more flexibility in terms of scheduling vacations, training, sick days and injury recoveries while remaining fully staffed with certified officers.

"I've mentioned this to a few people and it's been very well received," he said. "It could be a huge win for them and the city."

"This actually gives us more resources that are experienced," Mayor Bob Courtney said. "Honestly, it's economic, too, in adding more resources to public safety."

Among the requirements candidates would have meet is: Be a Tier one police academy graduate in good standing; have left previous law enforcement employment in good standing or currently be in good standing with a law enforcement agency; be a retired MPD officer with more than 30 days separation but less than three years separation from the department. Those with separation longer than 3 years could still be considered on an ass needed basis; be subject to the same scrutiny as other officers; and adhere to all department rules, regulations and standard operating procedures.

While the part-time officers would not be eligible for health coverage or other benefits, they would be covered in the event of an on the job injury or other loss.

Wallace said an added benefit of the program would be that some of the retired officers could have special skills that might help out in ways beyond filling patrol shifts. He said a retired officer who is a certified trainer or instructor could assist in that role as needed and those with emergency response team training could serve as members for the ERT to make sure the ERT is fully staffed and ready in an emergency.

Wallace noted that reserve programs, where officers serve for free but may lack certification and extensive training, are good in some situations but the part-time officers he hopes to hire would be able to function as a patrolman without restrictions.

The part-time officers would be paid at the hourly rate of a patrolman and covered by the city's workman's compensation insurance for injury or death on duty of damage that affected 72 structures in the City of Madison and Jefferson County and was the second such flash flood event in the last six years.

Courtney said the flood risk management plan is an effort to "invest our time and money to identify all options for future risk management."

The cost of the plan is $425,000 of which the ACOE will contribute 50%t. Courtney estimated the project will total approximately $500,000 including supervision and time an the County Commissioners have agreed to contribute $100,000.

Courtney said the project will start with "hydrological and hydraulic modeling of Crooked Creek watershed" from which much of the flash flooding came.

"Rather than hope we never have a significant amount of rain that will cause this type of flash flooding, we're doing multiple things working with the homeowners on mitigation as they rebuild, working with DNR (Department of Natural Resources) as they clean the Crooked Creek creek bed, and working with the Corps of Engineers and the Indiana Department of Homeland Security to bring about a plan that will identify future mitigation," the mayor said.

Courtney said it's the beginning of a long process, and noted the initial plan will likely take six to nine months, and 18 months to complete. Once that is done, he anticipates the actual mitigation will be a costly effort, and the city will need to consider funding resources for executing the work in redirecting water flow to address the issues

"It's miles and miles of watershed and changing how that water flows, where it flows from, how it's retained or detained," Courtney said, adding that is why it's so important for the Corps of Engineers to direct the management of the effort.

Matt Wirth, southeast client manager at Commonwealth Engineers, noted that the issues with water drainage "are not just in the flood area; it's city wide."

Due to the need to identify funding for the project, Courtney said the project is time sensitive in moving forward. "Let's get the plan in place so that when opportunity presents itself to get a grant, we have the plan, and we are more successful in getting more money in future."

In other business, the board:

• Approved the purchase of a parcel of property adjacent to John Paul Park at 400+ Fourth Street from Mike and Linda Pittman to provide parking at the end of Vine Street. "We appreciate Mike and Linda for being willing to sell this to us," said Courtney, who noted final approval of the purchase must come at Madison City Council.

Courtney said John Paul Park had been heavily damaged by the June flooding, and the city is going through the insurance claim process before repairing damage and getting quotes to repair fencing. Meanwhile, league games typically played there have been moved to Rucker Sports Complex this summer.

"That park has such a history with Madison. Anything we can do to bring it back," said board member Karl Eaglin.

• Susie Hamner, campaign drive chair for Jefferson County United Way, asked for barricading on a section of Bicentennial Park for the organization's official kick-off between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. on Sept. 23.

• Approved a final PACE grant of $7,807.03 for Marcus Chad Gray at 928 Park Avenue.

• Nicole Schell, director planning, announced Donna Perry as the new city employee working as office coordinator in the planning office,

• Approved handicapped parking spaces for Freida Richardson, 103 East Second Street, and Robin Cull, 420 St. Michael's Avenue.

County, among eight counties currently in a "Red" advisory.

Jefferson County has logged 84 new cases since Thursday and now has a 7 day positivity rate of 13.1%

Meanwhile, current incidence rates in Trimble and Carroll counties are keeping both in the "Red" in Kentucky. Trimble's incidence rate is now at 65.8 with a positivity rate of 796. Trimble has six new cases of COVID-19 for an overall total of 796 with eight deaths during the pandemic. Carroll's incidence rate is now at 77.9 with a positivity rate of 11.11%. Carroll has 16 new cases of COVID-19 for an overall total of 1,153 cases and 21 deaths during the pandemic.

In Indiana, there were 1,902 new positive cases of COVID-19 in the last day, increasing the total to 803,403. On Friday, the Kentucky Department of Public reported 4,009 new cases of COVID-19, increasing the total to 512,224.

The CDC reports that 46.3% of Jefferson County's resident are fully vaccinated with 49.9% receiving at least one dose. In Switzerland County, 25% are fully vaccinated with 27.2% receiving at least one dose. Carroll County has 38.4% fully vaccinated and 44.5% receiving at least one dose while Trimble County has 35.3% fully vaccinated with 40.5% receiving at least one dose.

Miss Madison GP to race in Owensboro Hydrofair

BY COURIER STAFF

Commemorating the 60th anniversary of the Miss Madison Racing Team, Hopp Racing's GP-15 will race as the Miss Madison GP for the upcoming Owensboro Hydrofair this weekend in Owensboro, Kentucky.

Presented by Friends of Madison Racing, Miss Madison GP will be driven by veteran Greg Hopp with Jerry Hopp standing by as the back-up driver.

Although the GP-15 competes in the Grand Prix series, the presence of a Miss Madison entry in Owensboro preserves the team's legacy of attending powerboat races in that city from 1969-78 when Miss Madison Racing's unlimited competed at Owensboro. Additionally, Jerry Hopp is a past driver for Miss Madison Inc., steering the community-owned hydroplane on two different occasions, in 1988 and 2000.

The Friends of Madison Racing approached Miss Madison Team President Charlie Grooms and got approval to put the Miss Madison GP name on the Hopp Racing entry.

"We are excited to be able to represent Madison at the Owensboro race," said Jerry Hopp. "Madison is my favorite city on the racing circuit, and we are excited to be able to honor the Miss Madison name in Owensboro.

"Having the Friends of Madison step up and make this possible is awesome," Hopp added. "Now we'll have another 15,000 fans cheering for us this weekend."

Hopp Racing is one of the most competitive GP teams participating in the event.

The team has won numerous championships, is recognized for kilo and straightaway world records by the American Power Boat Association and was the 2019 Grand Prix World series champion.

The boat will be in Madison at Supershine on Wednesday, and Thursday displays will be announced this week.

Madison places 2nd in own Invite

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Madison girls golf posted a strong second-place finish in its own invitational Saturday at Sunrise Golf Course.

The Cubs shot a 396 to edge sectional rival Jennings County by three strokes. Floyd Central, ranked eighth in the state, easily won the event with a 322.

"Second place was a good result today all things considered. I wasn't expecting us to be very sharp today after the heat affected us earlier in the week," Madison coach Jake Shockley said. "I'm pretty glad to break 400 today in all honesty. Floyd Central is a really strong team, and we knew that going in. For the most part, it was always a battle for second place for everybody else."

Senior Keara Eder did her part to boost the Cubs, breaking up the run of Floyd scorers at the top by placing second with a 78. Floyd's Paige Giovenco took low-medalist honors with a three-over par 75 while the Highlanders' Trinity Breamer was third with an 80 and Chloe Cook was fourth

SEASON PREVIEW: SWITZERLAND FOOTBALL

Young Pacers eager to hit the field

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

Ryan Jesop can see the small differences as Switzerland County High School's football program enters its seventh season. With an entire generation of players now having grown up with the sport, gone are the days when coaches had to nitpick players to get their gear, be ready on time and to be in the right positions.

"We were getting ready for the scrimmage and we coaches were running a bit late and realized that we had forgotten a few pieces of equipment," Jesop said. "But the players had already gotten it and loaded it on the bus. It's those little things that really stand out."

Now Jesop is hoping that such attention to detail pays off in wins. Despite having one of his youngest rosters, Jesop's Pacers are poised to have a nice season with a collection of players who are hungry and ready to put their stamp on Pacers football.

Switzerland County opens the 2021 season at home on Friday against Crawford County. The team Jesop will put on the field features new faces in plenty of places but he is confident that everybody knows what it takes to win.

"Everybody is locked and loaded and cares about each other and honestly, we have had some of that in the past but it's never been one unit like we have this year," Jesop said. "I'm very happy with the cohesiveness of this team."

Jesop got a chance to see his team in action on Friday when the Pacers squared off against Clarksville in a scrimmage and, although Switzerland lost 24-6, there was plenty to like, especially on the defensive end.

Two of the touchdowns the Pacers allowed were on busted plays with one coming right at the end of Clarksville's 15-play offensive series to open the scrimmage. When fresh and playing normal downs, Switzerland was able to hold the Generals in check.

Much of that defense starts up front where senior Michael Galbreath and his brother, Sam Galbreath, control the line of scrimmage and give the Pacers' linebackers and secondary a chance to make plays. Jesop loves what he sees in his line, especially the 6-foot-1, 257-pound Michael Galbreath, known by his teammates as "Big Mike."

"The Brothers Galbreath are just stones and Michael has just been fantastic, running down people from behind. He's just flat-out scary," Jesop said. "He's going to garner a lot of double-teams and our linebackers are just going to have to step up and realize that the holes are there because Mike's creating them."

Jesop is also high on senior Carl Abplanalp, a 6-foot-6, 220-pound lineman who didn't get to play much last year, but flashed when he did.

"We're looking at Carl Abplanalp to have a big year. He only got a chance to play two or three times last year but he led us statistically every time," Jesop said. "He just swallows up an entire side of the line."

Switzerland County lost most of its experience on offense and it is on that side of the ball where the Pacers will need to improve most. Two-way player Matt Davis will have the ball in his hands on most plays and Tyler Hoskins and Colton Skaggs will also get a chance to make plays.

Switzerland County enters the season officially as an independent after the Mid-Indiana Football Conference dissolved over the offseason. The Pacers will play former conference foes Oldenburg Academy, North Decatur, South Decatur and Milan, but there will be no trophy at the end to chase. North Decatur has joined

IHSAA, coaches approve mercy rule for soccer

BY JORDAN BEAR

A major change in high school soccer begins this year after the Indiana High School Athletic Association announced last week that for the first time, a mercy rule will be in effect in boys and girls soccer.

In May of this year, the Indiana Soccer Coaches Association proposed to the IHSAA a mercy rule to which once a team reaches a five-goal lead, the clock will then run continuously and would never return to normal timing, with the exception of the clock being stopped if there is an injury. The second part proposed was that if a team has a nine-goal lead by halftime, that game would then be terminated.

Under National Federation of High School rules, the first half must be played in its entirety for the game to be official.

The IHSAA voted 17-1 in June to approve an amended mercy rule but the coaches still had to vote on the policy.

This past week it became official when coaches approved the five-goal rule, but voted for a change in the termination rule where that if a team has at least a nine-goal lead with 20 minutes to play in the game, then the match will be terminated. This rule will be in effect immediately this season for both the regular season and the IHSAA State Tournament.

The discussion of a mercy rule has been in talks for several years as Kentucky has had a mercy rule for quite some time. First year Shawe boys soccer coach Patrick Bear is in favor of the mercy rule.

"It does no team any good being beat 12- or 13-0. The kids don't want to be out there, it's not fun for them, and they don't learn anything," Bear said. "Also, if you're the team winning, continuously running up the score isn't good either. It's not teaching them anything and it's also a chance for a player to suffer an injury. That's the time when some of the younger players need to be on the field so they can get a chance to get some varsity experience."

Not all coaches were in favor of the change. Madison girls soccer coach Janet Hertz said she did not want to see a mercy rule.

"To me, you can learn a lot from a tough loss than a good win. Sometimes, you can even learn more," Hertz said. "When you're losing a by a wide margin, that's when you look at your team and you teach them to keep the same mentality every game. Not every game is going to go your way but it's what you take from that going forward that makes you better."

The official start of soccer season began on Saturday with the Southwestern girls playing at Corydon Central. The rest of the area soccer teams will be kicking off their season this week.

VOLLEYBALL ROUNDUP

Rebels runners-up in SW Invite

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Southwestern girls volleyball opened the 2021 season by placing second in its own invitational Saturday at the high school.

The Rebels won their first two matches, beating New Washington 2-1 (25-20, 19-25, 15-9) and South Decatur 2-0 (25-23, 32-30) before falling to Greensburg 2-0 (25-14, 25-16). Greensburg, which swept New Washington and South Decatur in straight sets, finished 3-0 to win the tourney.

New Washington beat South Decatur in the other match to finish third.

"I am very happy with the way we played today to kick off the season. The tournament was very competitive this year and I thought our girls did a great job working and communicating together," Southwestern coach Chris Johnson said. "Kylie Eccles was our most solid player today. She did a great job offensively, defensively, and serving for us. Meaghan Kramer was the glue that held everything together today on the court and I'm sure she will be throughout the season. I was proud of the entire team today. I saw positive things from everyone."

Southwestern's Emma Long (0) blocks the tip of South Decatur's Brook Somers (14) during the Southwestern Volleyball Invitational on Saturday.

Eccles hit on 46-of-50 with 15 kills, served 24-for-28 with nine aces, and added eight digs. Meaghan Kramer was 166-for-168 setting with 37 assists, 30-for-31 serving and added six kills and 23 digs, Marissa Naylor had 11 kills, three aces and 22 digs, Emma Long had eight kills and six digs, Raygan Crawford had nine kills, Riley Scroggins had six kills, Amberly Gosman had five kills, Ashleigh Ream was 16-for -19 serving with four aces, went 50-for-51 passing with 25 digs, and added five kills, and Parker Mefford was 23-for-24 passing with nine digs.

Southwestern, now 2-1 on the season, hosted South Dearborn on Monday and travels to Clarksville on Wednesday.

PACERS FOURTH AT SCOTTSBURG

Switzerland County girls volleyball opened the season with a fourth-place finish in the Scottsburg Invitational on Saturday afternoon.

The Pacers lost to Mitchell 25-21, 25-13 and to Scottsburg and Borden before ending the day with a win over Crothersville.

Switzerland, now 1-3 on the season, travels to Oldenburg Academy on Wednesday and heads to Rising Sun on Thursday.

Bats manager joins 1,800-win club

BY COURIER STAFF

Louisville Bats manager Pat Kelly officially joined the 1,800-win club with the Bats victory over the Nashville Sounds Friday night at Louisville Slugger Field.

Pat Kelly

Kelly is now one of just four active managers in Minor League Baseball with 1,800-plus career wins.

He reached the milestone by defeating former Louisville skipper and current Sounds manager Rick Sweet, who is a member of the 1,800-win club himself.

Of the more than 200 current managers in Minor League Baseball (including short-season leagues), only Kelly, Sweet, Tom Kotchman and Buddy Bailey have amassed 1,800 career MiLB victories.

Kelly, 65, has managed 18 different teams over his 30-plus seasons in the minors.

He made his debut with Charleston in 1986 and has since served as skipper for Reno (1987), Wichita (1988-89), Las Vegas (1990), Rockford (1991), Indianapolis (1991-92), Chattanooga (1993-94, 2019), Harrisburg (1995-96), Ottawa (1997-98), Syracuse (1999-2000), Richmond (2003-05), Sarasota (2007), the Gulf Coast League Reds (2007-09), Lynchburg (2010), Billings (2011-13), Bakersfield (2014), Pensacola (2015-17) and Louisville (2018, 2021).

Kelly was named Manager of the Year in the Pioneer League with Billings in 2012. He has also managed overseas in various winter leagues during the Minor League offseason and won the Puerto Rican Winter League Manager of the Year award in both 2010 and 2016.

Including the 2021 season, Kelly has managed in more than 3,500 Minor League games.

His distinguished career includes coaching several Hall of Famers and managing against each of his two sons, Casey (Gulf Coast League) and Chris (Florida State League), during the 2008 season.

Alabama once again No. 1 in preseason AP Top 25

BY RALPH D. RUSSO
AP COLLEGE FOOTBALL WRITER

Another college football season will start with everyone chasing the Tide.

Alabama is No. 1 in The Associated Press Top 25 preseason poll for fourth time in the past six seasons.

Coming off its sixth national championship under Nick Saban, the Crimson Tide enters the season loaded with potential replacements for the record-breakers and NFL draft picks who have moved on, including Heisman Trophy winner DeVonta Smith.

Alabama received 47 of 63 first-place votes from the panel of sports writers and broadcasters in the poll presented by Regions Bank. Oklahoma is No. 2, just ahead of No. 3 Clemson (each received six first-place votes).

Ohio State, which lost to the Tide in last season's championship game, is No. 4 after receiving a first-place vote. Georgia received three first-place votes and rounds out the top five.

The 2020 Buckeyes were emblematic of a bizarre season played through the pandemic, suiting up for only eight games after the Big Ten didn't kickoff until late October.

The season was riddled with postponements, cancellations, and players and coaches missing games across the country because of COVID-19. There was little nonconference play and none among Power Five conference teams.

Amid all the chaos and frustration was a familiar ending: The season came to a close with Alabama on top.

Last year's Tide staked a claim as the greatest team of the Saban dynasty. Alabama went 13-0, facing 11 Southeastern Conference teams and playoff showdowns with Notre Dame and Ohio State.

SOCCER ROUNDUP

Cizek scores in Rebels' season opener

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Southwestern girls soccer opened the 2021 season with a 10-1 loss at Corydon on Saturday.

Kearstin Cizek scored the Rebels' lone goal on a pass from Cadence Humes.

"Short on numbers and limping with injuries, our team played hard and gained valuable learning experiences, despite the 10-1 loss," Southwestern coach Nancy Totten said. "Some other highlights were seeing good play by Kaylee DeWeese even in new positions and by Brianna Johnson in her first game."

Southwestern, now 0-1 on the season, had its game with Austin on Wednesday postponed due to COVID concerns.

The Rebels return to action on Monday, Aug. 23 when they travel to Milan.

CARROLL BOYS FALL TO BETHLEHEM

Carroll County boys soccer opened the 2021 season with a 3-2 loss at home to Bethlehem on Saturday.

Brandon Jiminez and Jesus Joao each scored a goal for the Panthers. Cyrus Tuttle stopped five shots in goal.

Carroll, now 0-1 on the season, hosts North Bullitt on Thursday.

CARROLL GIRLS SHUT OUT BY BOURBON

Carroll County's girls soccer team suffered a 2-0 loss to Bourbon County in the 2021 season opener Saturday on the road. Ashlyn Davis had 10 saves in goal for the Panthers.

Carroll, now 0-1 on the season, hosts Spencer County on Wednesday and travels to Switzerland County on Monday, Aug. 23.

Reds take 2 of 3 from first-place Philadelphia

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

PHILADELPHIA — Jonathan India homered and scored three times, and the Cincinnati Reds beat the Philadelphia Phillies 7-4 on Sunday.

India, one of the leading candidates for NL Rookie of the Year, drove Aaron Nola's third pitch deep to left-center for his 15th homer. He also singled and scored on Shogo Akiyama's two-run double in the third and singled and scored again on Tyler Naquin's bases-loaded walk in the fifth.

"He sets the tone," Cincinnati manager David Bell said.

Tyler Stephenson added a two-run homer for Cincinnati, which took two of three in the weekend series. Stephenson's pinch-hit drive capped the Reds' three-run eighth.

Lucas Sims (5-2) pitched 1 1/3 scoreless innings for the win, and Mychal Givens got four outs for his third save.

TRAINER'S ROOM

Reds: OF Jesse Winker returned to the starting lineup after missing two straight games due to a lower back injury. But Winker was pulled after two at-bats, both flyouts, and replaced by Aristides Aquino to begin the bottom of the third. Bell said he left with the same injury that sidelined him the last two days and will be re-evaluated on Monday. ... OF Nick Senzel was reinstated from the 60-day IL and then optioned to Triple-A Louisville. Senzel had knee surgery in May.

REDS 6, PHILLIES 1 (FRIDAY)

Joey Votto crushed the latest home run on his power barrage and performed a little fist-bump, hand-slap routine with his teammates at the plate. He looked at the fans on his walk back to the dugout and pointed his thumbs at his shoulders, a worthy flex for a slugger showing plenty of muscle of late.

Votto hit a three-run homer and Tyler Mahle tossed seven shutout innings to lead the Cincinnati Reds to a 6-1 win over the Philadelphia Phillies on Friday night.

Votto has 15 homers in his last 22 games as he tries to inch the Reds back into the playoff picture.

Nick Castellanos added a solo homer and Eugenio Suarez hit a two-run shot for the Reds (63-54).

Mahle (10-3) allowed three hits and walked none in his second straight win. Michael Lorenzen worked the eighth and Heath Hembree gave up a run in the ninth.

Tyler Naquin led off the fourth with a single and Zach Wheeler plunked Castellanos. Votto's second-half revival continued when his 26th homer of the season landed in the bullpen for a 3-0 lead. Votto moved into second in the NL in home runs and became just the third player 37 years old or older to have at least one 22-game span with 15-plus home runs.

Votto has 1,998 hits and trails only four players on the Reds' career hits list. He is three homers shy of matching Frank Robinson for second on the team's career list with 324. Votto's 2,000th hit will make him only the second player (Billy Williams, Cubs, 1971) to reach that milestone the same season he also recorded his 300th home run and 1,000th RBI. Castellanos hit his 20th homer of the season in the sixth. Suarez's 23rd homer of the year was a two-run shot to left in the ninth.

PHILLIES 6, REDS 1 (SATURDAY)

Matt Moore and the Phillies bullpen took a no-hitter into the eighth inning, Bryce Harper hit a Little League homer and Philadelphia two-hit the Cincinnati Reds 6-1 Saturday.

Moore (2-3) threw six scoreless innings but was pulled after 76 pitches. Hector Neris pitched a 1-2-3 seventh with two strikeouts before Archie Bradley allowed Tyler Stephenson's homer leading off the eighth.

Harper cruised into third for an RBI triple in the eighth inning, made a celebratory hand gesture toward the home dugout then took off for home following a lackadaisical Reds blunder after the play was seemingly over.

Cincinnati shortstop Kyle Farmer caught the relay from the outfield as Harper reached third, then flipped the ball casually toward first baseman Joey Votto near the pitcher's mound. Votto wasn't expecting the ball and didn't see it fall behind him. When catcher Stephenson abandoned home plate to retrieve it, Harper sprinted home easily.

Super Bowl champs rest starters, fall against Cincinnati, 19-14

BY FRED GOODALL
ASSOCIATED PRESS

TAMPA, Fla. — A little over six months after becoming the first team to win a Super Bowl played on its homefield, the Tampa Bay Buccaneers were excited about finally being back in Raymond James Stadium.

Winding up on the wrong side of the scoreboard in a 19-14 preseason-opening loss to the Cincinnati Bengals didn't dampen the mood Saturday night.

"I didn't know what to expect. ... But actually seeing all the fans and actually stepping back on the turf, it feels really good to be back out here man," linebacker Lavonte David said. "It felt like it's football season again."

Chris Evans finished a long drive with a 1-yard touchdown run and kickers Evan McPherson and Austin Seibert combined for four second-half field goals for the Bengals, who played without quarterback Joe Burrow. They also didn't see much of Tom Brady or the rest of Tampa Bay's regulars, either.

With Brady and his talented supporting cast sitting after playing just six snaps during the lone series the 44-year-old quarterback worked, veterans Blaine Gabbert and Ryan Griffin and second-round draft pick Kyle Trask ran the offense the remainder of the night.

Burrow, the 2019 Heisman Trophy winner and the first overall selection in last year's draft who's coming off major reconstructive knee surgery, did not dress. The Bengals got extended looks at Brandon Allen and Kyle Shurmur at quarterback.

"I was encouraged by a lot of things I saw," said Bengals coach Zac Taylor, who also liked the way his defense began the game against Brady.

"It was six and out, I think," Taylor added. "They got them off the field, finished with a sack. That was a good way for them to start."

Griffin played into the third quarter for the Bucs, who return all 22 starters from the star-laden roster coach Bruce Arians and general manager Jason Licht assembled around Brady after signing him in free agency last year.

Trask, who the Bucs are grooming as a potential successor to Brady, entered midway through the third quarter.

The former Florida star completed 4 of 15 passes for 35 yards and was sacked twice.

"It was fun to go out there and get some real NFL reps," Trask said.

Gabbert noted the difference in the vibe in the stadium with most of the seats filled compared to last season, when the number of fans allowed to attend games was limited throughout the league due to the coronavirus pandemic.

"The energy was awesome," the 11th-year pro said.

SHORT OUTING

With Tropical Depression Fred weakening to a tropical wave but still threatening to bring heavy rain to Florida as it entered the eastern Gulf of Mexico, Brady was1 of 2 for 9 yards and was sacked once before departing.

The seven-time Super Bowl champion handed off to Leonard Fournette on the game's first two plays, then connected with former Bengal and offseason free agent acquisition Giovani Bernard for 9 yards on third-and-8 to extend the opening drive.

Defensive end Joseph Ossai sacked Brady three plays later, though, ending the quarterback's brief outing. Gabbert worked one series as well, leading a 15-play, 79-yard drive that Ke'Shawn Vaughn finished with a 2-yard touchdown run.

Gabbert finished 6 of 11 for 64 yards. Griffin was 6 of 11 for 47 yards and two interceptions before being replaced by Trask.

INJURIES

Bengals: Ossai left with a wrist injury and did not return. Allen started in place of Burrow, while Billy Price filled in for Trey Hopkins at center, and defensive tackle Larry Ogunjobi was replaced in the starting lineup by Josh Toupo.

Buccaneers: Tampa did not report any injuries. Safety Mike Edwards started for Jordan Whitehead, who along with rookie offensive lineman Robert Hainsey and tight end Cameron Brate were among the players who sat out.

Eason efficient, Ehlinger shines late, Colts beat Panthers

BY PHILLIP B. WILSON
ASSOCIATED PRESS

INDIANAPOLIS — Jacob Eason was efficient in place of the injured Carson Wentz, and rookie Sam Ehlinger delivered in the final quarter for the Indianapolis Colts.

Ehlinger, a sixth-round pick out of Texas, began his NFL debut with an interception. But he regrouped and drove the Colts to a tying touchdown capped by his 2-point conversion run. Ehlinger then scrambled 11 and 9 yards to set up Eddy Pineiro's 30-yard field goal in the final seconds, and the Colts beat the Carolina Panthers 21-18 in a preseason game Sunday.

Eason played the first half and finished 15 of 21 for 183 yards with a lost fumble as the Colts got a look at their backup quarterback options while Wentz recovers from foot surgery. Ehlinger handled the second half, completing 10 of 15 passes for 155 yards and the one pick.

"That's the kind of thing you want to see from your quarterbacks, mental toughness, being able to handle the blitz and come back and play winning football," Colts coach Frank Reich said. "I think both of them are probably going to grade out as playing winning football at the end of the day."

Panthers starting quarterback Sam Darnold didn't play, either, and the game was dominated by defensive reserves. Former Colts practice squad player P.J. Walker started for Carolina, going 10 of 21 for 161 yards and a touchdown.

"I felt like when I was here," Walker said about his Colts stint from 2017 to 2019, "I didn't have as much fun playing football." Ehlinger entered in the second half with the Colts trailing 15-10. Kenny Robinson provided a humbling introduction by intercepting Ehlinger's fourth pass.

But after the Panthers widened their lead to 18-10, Ehlinger connected with Tarik Black for 47 yards, then hit Tyler Vaughns for a 25-yard gain to set up Benny LeMay's 1-yard TD run. Ehlinger scrambled up the middle for the tying conversion.

On the next drive, Ehlinger scrambled to keep the Colts moving.

Stoops names Levis as UK's starting QB

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LEXINGTON — Kentucky coach Mark Stoops has named Penn State transfer Will Levis as the Wildcats' starting quarterback over holdovers Joey Gatewood and Beau Allen. Levis arrived in June and had to quickly pick up new offensive coordinator Liam Coen's pro style system that promises to speed up the Southeastern Conference worst passing attack last season in yards per game (124.1). The junior began camp expected to compete with Gatewood and Allen, who had a jump on the system this spring, and Stoops said on media day that he wanted to "get it right than be in a hurry" in making a choice. He informed the QBs of his decision on Sunday before announcing in a virtual news conference.

Mark Stoops

"They've done some good things, but this was clear," Stoops said. "Once we came to the conclusion, there was no reason to delay the decision. ... He won the job."

Stoops added that Gatewood, an Auburn transfer who played in seven games last season, has entered the NCAA transfer portal. The 6-foot-3, 232-pound Levis completed 61 of 102 passes for 644 yards and three touchdowns with two interceptions in 15 games over three seasons for the Nittany Lions. He makes his UK debut on Sept. 4 against Louisiana-Monroe.

with a round of 81.

"Keara has very high standards for herself, and I know she really wanted medalist today. It just wasn't in the cards for her," Shockley said. "She's had a great start to the season, though, and Coach (Shannon) Barger and I want her to focus on all of the good she has done so far."

Grace Bronkella posted a 98 for Madison while Gracie Gasaway had a 104 and Lilly Fox carded a 116. Regan Warren added a non-scoring 120.

"Gracie and Lilly came up really big today with personal bests today. They visited Coach (Dale) Crafton earlier in the week. Obviously, he had a big effect," Shockley said. "I think those two, and really the whole team, are just going to continue to get better. The goal is always to get everybody playing well together by the end of the season. Hopefully, we can make that happen."

Shawe was fifth out of the nine teams with a 424. Kira Wells led the Hilltoppers with a 96, Gia Craig had a career-best 100, Yolett Perez a 110 and Bailey Kilgore a 118.

Both Madison and Shawe competed in home matches on Monday with the Cubs hosting Jeffersonville in a make-up match and Shawe entertaining Lawrenceburg, Henryville and New Washington. Madison returns to action on Wednesday when its hosts Providence and competes in the Floyd Central Invitational on Saturday. Shawe heads to Milan on Thursday and plays at Jac-Cen-Del next Monday.

SAMPSON CLAIMS LOW-MEDALIST

Southwestern's Hannah Sampson shot a 52 to take medalist honors in a dual meet at Butler Falls Golf Course on Friday in Hanover.

Sampson's score was a stroke better than teammate Ximena Vilchis-Harrizon while Kayla Boscia shot a 63. Southwestern did not have the crucial fourth player to qualify for a team score.

New Washington shot a 274 to win the match by default.

Ashley Wills and Alyssa Burke each had 67s and Averie Willson and Emily Pool each had 70.

"Overall, tonight was an improvement and a step in the right direction for our girls. Hannah and Kayla both shot personal bests. Ximena had a couple of holes that got the best of her but she did a great job of overcoming the mental side of the game and finished her round strong," Southwestern coach Matt Johnson said. "I am especially proud of our girls for assisting the New Washington team, some of whom have only started playing golf five days ago, with questions about rules, scoring, and advice to improve their game. Hannah, Kayla and Ximena provided great examples of sportsmanship, high character and represented Southwestern well."

Southwestern hosted Switzerland County, Jac-Cen-Del and South Ripley on Monday and heads to Switzerland County on Wednesday. The Rebels then compete at Scottsburg on Thursday.

the Mid-Eastern Conference but the other three are also independent.

Jesop said that it is important for his squad to take each game on its own merits and look to get better each time out as the Pacers take aim on a first-ever postseason win.

"For the most part we are keeping the conference together. We just have to travel across the river and play games for the first month," Jesop said. "We were able to find schools with similar demographics and that's what we were looking for."

Switzerland County will play three of its first four games at home. After opening with Crawford, Switzerland travels to Gallatin County (Ky.) for week two before hosting Trimble County (Ky.) and Owen County (Ky.) in weeks three and four.
